The Scene

Rubber masks and bowler hats are strung overhead while flapper costumes and flimsy negligees beckon from floor racks. Rows of '70s separates like sans-a-belt slacks, patchwork coats and dashikis clog the aisles, but you never know when you'll stumble across a rare "Gumby" or "Planet of the Apes" find.

The Goods

Short on ideas? Owner Daniel Hazen worked on shows like "H.R. PufnStuf" and the "Bugaloos" in the '70s, so he's a great brainstormer. "Pimp and 'Ho" parties are currently the rage, so you'll find lots of velour suits and gold chains. Looking for a genuine Zoot suit, medieval wench or policewoman outfit? They're here, too. So are unusual accessories like bullwhips, men's sock garters and bonafide top hats. Limited children's collection.

Price Tag

Low to High. A frilly nightie will run you only $12.99, but a pimp suit with hat ain't cheap ($299.99!). Attachable gold tooth, $7.99. No rentals; sales are final.

Our Favorites

Gotta love the Pink Ladies' and T-Birds' bowling shirts ($39.99), white go-go boots ($39.99) and the "Buffy, the Vampire Slayer" costumes, complete with wooden stake.
